DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a the reservation changing system comprising a mobile terminal apparatus, an information provision server apparatus, classified in class 705, subclass 5.

II. Claims 7-13, drawn to a portable IC card comprising: a storage unit operable to store first reservation information, classified in class 705, subclass 41.

III. Claims 14-21, drawn to a margin judgment unit, classified in class 705, subclass 1.

IV. Claim 22-24, drawn to reservation changing software and apparatus, classified in class 705, subclass 8.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I, II, III, IV and V are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombinations as claimed because the subcombination (invention II) has a portable IC card, which the combination (invention I) as claimed does not require. The subcombination has separate utility such as a portable IC card. In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombinations as claimed because the subcombination (invention III) has a particular step of a margin judgment unit operable to judge whether or not a time margin between the obtained expected arrival time and the departure time included in the first reservation information is sufficient, which the combination (invention I) as claimed does not require. The subcombination has separate utility such as a margin judgment unit operable to judge whether or not a time margin between the obtained expected arrival time and the departure time included in the first reservation information is sufficient. In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombinations as claimed because the subcombination (invention IV) has a reservation changing software and apparatus, which the combination (invention I) as claimed does not require. The subcombination has separate utility such as a reservation changing apparatus.

The examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions.

Where applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

3. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

(a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;

(b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;

Art Unit: 3628

(c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);

(d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;

(e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of an invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
